

Alison Jordan:

I have lived in and around the local area for all of my life, having spent the last 17 years living in Corley Moor. However, last summer myself, my husband Pete and our two daughters all moved to Solihull. Both girls had attended Meriden Church of England Primary School since nursery. This year they have both joined new schools, with our eldest now at secondary school. Both have absolutely loved their time at Meriden, hence I am planning to complete my term as a parent governor to share the experiences and learning that they have both received.

I have previously worked in the Financial Services industry, with Lloyd's Bank for 27 years and then NFU Mutual for 6. I now renovate houses, which is a huge passion of mine and a really interesting way to make a living.

I am currently completing my second term as a parent governor and I am thoroughly enjoying the wonderful journey that the school is going through. Having undergone the whole Ofsted process twice, it would be a fitting end to my term to see the school achieve an outstanding evaluation.

For those who have read my previous profiles I still love to run, now even slower, walk with our new dog and continue to ensure that the girls get to their many and various after school activities on time!
